Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 15 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Many parts rather cloudy and mild. Some rain in north.

Today:
Some sunshine in northern Scotland, north Wales, and parts of northern and eastern England. Many other areas cloudy; some rain across west and south Scotland, Northern Ireland and Cumbria, and patchy drizzle in the south. Mild. Windy in the north.

Tonight:
Rain pushing northeastwards across western and northern parts of Scotland. Still a little drizzle possible in the south. Some cloud breaks in between, which may lead to some fog patches.

Thursday:
Any fog in central and eastern England may be slow to clear. Some sunshine possible, mainly parts of northeastern UK. Still damp in the far north. Elsewhere cloudy but dry.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Mostly dry but rather cloudy. A few sunny intervals, while clear spells by night could allow patchy fog. Winds mostly light but temperatures trending downwards, with patchy night frost possible.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.